Innovative Relief last for the complete inflammation field

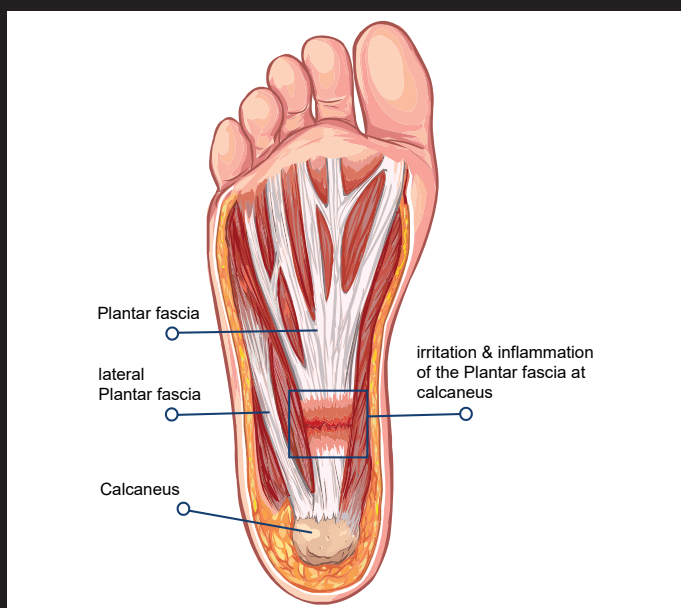

Pressure release of the Plantar fascia total soft bedding in the heel area

EsConclusion FSP

The treatment of heel spur with prefabricated orthotics gets handled traditionally with relieving pads in the area of the spur. The patient receives a decompression during walk and will be free of pain. Because often the inflammation, caused by the spur under the calcaneus, a Plantar fascia rupture goes along – and the inflammation field radiates onto the longitudinal arch of the foot, there is a massive easing, that is based on the correct, anatomical bedding of the Plantar fascia.

The new insole series offers two more professional cares, that redistribute the loading pressure through an anatomic bedding of the Plantar fascia the arch of strain from sinew.

This has the effect of a precise better metabolism care and correspondingly a pain release.

This combination is a support for a prompt process to free from pains for the patient. Surveys prove it: After 2–3 weeks, the acute symptoms were corrected and the quality and happiness the movement returned. A multifunctionist guaranteed through this kind of treatment because the typical foot deformities can be served optimal by the most existing symptoms, which the spur raises. Our innovation is the technical implementation of the care philosophy into the Carbon insoles technology.

Furthermore to the named indications, the arthritis of the joints from metatarsophalangeal joint can be medicated very well. The known EsCo RigiTec – insole technology is supplemented technically by Plantar fascia bedding.

The foot gets reinforced in its joints. An immediate pain reduction is detectable through the move reduction.

To offer and to realize a variety of therapy-concepts for the orthopaedic technician, we have defined different base materials. These materials are available for the orthopaedic specialist for a choice of his treatment strategy and additionally an ESD-treatment inside the work safety shoe.
